At Bruce Adams Law, we help families preserve their wealth for future generations, and avoid probate.

We have enclosed complimentary tickets to attend our FREE Educational Workshop. Please reserve your seats today by calling our office or visiting our website. If you are married, it's beneficial to bring your spouse because we cover a lot of information in a short amount of time.

At the workshop we will discuss several topics including:

- The advantages and disadvantages of Wills and Living Trusts.
- Probate – what it is and why you may want to AVOID IT.
- The right way to leave property to your children and protect it from their creditors or a divorcing spouse.
- Why putting property in children's names during your lifetime may be a mistake.
- How Powers of Attorney work (some Powers of Attorney may be missing needed powers.) They don't all work the same.
- How to provide for special needs children and grandchildren.
- How to protect yourself and your estate if you become incapacitated.

You've worked a lifetime to build your estate and develop relationships with loved ones; you owe it to yourself to attend our FREE workshop.

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Bruce Adams

Bruce Adams was born in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. After graduating from The University of Alabama, I was commissioned as an officer in the United States Army, serving as a military police officer. While in the reserves, I earned my law degree from the Cumberland Law School at Samford University. I went on active duty and served as a Judge Advocate at Fort McClellan.

In 1984, I began private practice here in Anniston, Alabama, where I have lived and practiced since. My practice has involved many types of legal matters, including estates, business litigation, personal injury, and divorce. Now, I concentrate on estate, probate, business matters, and family law.
